Welcome to RETHINKING MARXISM 2013: SURPLUS, SOLIDARITY, SUFFICIENCY.

It is with a mixture of joy and sadness that we welcome you to the 8th international conference Rethinking Marxism and the Association for Economic and Social Analysis (AESA) have sponsored. When a small group of graduate students and faculty began the journal over twenty-five years ago here in Amherst, it was hard to imagine an explicitly Marxist journal thriving all these years never mind that we would have managed to host so many of these events. It is indeed a privilege for us to serve as a vehicle for bringing together so many scholars, artists, and activists once again. We hope you find this an inspiring and engaging event.

Of course, our continued contributions are the results of the efforts, accomplishments and commitments of our editorial board, members of AESA, and conference organizing committees throughout the years. Sadly, two of our most cherished colleagues are no longer here. Words cannot express the profound ways in which Stephen Resnick and Julie Graham had an impact on our work and lives. They are sorely missed while they continue to live on in the myriad of ways they influenced us all.

We also would like to thank our plenary speakers Jodi Dean, Katherine Gibson, Stephen Healy, and Richard Wolff for graciously accepting our invitations to speak this weekend. Likewise, the assistance and patience of the UMass Conference Services staff was, once again of enormous help in pulling together this event. The art exhibit would not be possible without the work of Susan Jahoda, Jesal Kapadia, the University of Massachusetts Library, and the Herter Hall staff.

None of this would be possible without the work of our conference committee. Immense thanks go out to Yahya M. Madra, Chizu Sato, Rob Garnett, S. Charusheela, Elizabeth Ramey, Mwangi wa Githinji, Boone Shear, Serap Kayatekin, Ted Burczak, and Faruk Eray Düzenli.

We hope you find the conference engaging and stimulating as well as broadening a space for forging the new connections that we will need as we move forward.

Now in its 25th year, Rethinking Marxism is an independent platform for interdisciplinary critical inquiry. Along with full-length research articles, the journal features art, cultural criticism and political analyses of current events. Symposia, a regular feature of the journal, allow for in-depth looks at important theoretical issues and influential books. Rethinking Marxism is where you find out how Marxian theory is changing as it presents cutting-edge Marxist thinking from generations of writers around the world.

Stop by and talk to members of the editorial board about Rethinking Marxism and possible publishing opportunities at the Opening Reception at Herter Art Gallery on Friday, between 4-5:45.

Further information: Visit us at www.rethinkingmarxism.org. Follow us as @RethinkMarxism on Twitter & as Rethinking Marxism on Facebook.

Rethinking Marxism is a project of the Association for Economic and Social Analysis, a nonprofit, educational organization headquartered in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The aim of Rethinking Marxism is to stimulate interest in and debate over the explanatory power and social consequences of Marxian economic, cultural, and social analysis. To that end, we publish studies that seek to discuss, elaborate, and/or extend Marxian theory. Our concerns include theoretical and philosophical (methodological and epistemological) matters as well as more concrete empirical analyses--all work that leads to the further development of distinctively Marxian discourses. We encourage contributions from people in many disciplines and from a wide range of perspectives. We are also interested in expanding the diversity of styles for producing and presenting Marxian discourses.

One distinguishing aim of this journal is to ensure that class is an important part, but not the exclusive focus, of Marxism. We are therefore interested in the complex intersection of class with economic, political, psychological, and all other social processes. Equally important is the task of exploring the philosophical positions that shape Marxian analyses.

We are interested in promoting Marxian approaches to social theory because we believe that they can and should play an important role in developing strategies for radical social change--in particular, for an end to class exploitation and the various forms of political, cultural, and psychological oppression (including oppression on the basis of race, gender, and sexual orientation). We especially welcome research that explores these and related issues from Marxian perspectives.
